COURSE OVERVIEW

An advanced professional certification that equips safety practitioners, engineers and managers to plan, implement and evaluate comprehensive workplace health and safety programs.

Aligned with OSHA standards, ISO 45001, ANSI Z10 and modern safety management frameworks, the program prepares learners for senior leadership responsibilities across diverse industrial sectors. Participants learn to assess complex hazards, apply advanced risk controls, investigate incidents using recognized root cause techniques and evaluate safety management systems for effectiveness and regulatory alignment.

Blending regulatory expertise with managerial capability, the RHSP integrates environmental and industrial hygiene principles into everyday safety performance. Completion signifies mastery of multidisciplinary safety management and distinguishes graduates as leaders capable of strategic decision-making in high-risk, dynamic environments.
